

EUROPEAN SPACE WEEK

CONNECTING THE FUTURE

3 - 6 DECEMBER 2018, MARSEILLE

+39, “Space for your app”
Hackathon Winners

+39 team is a recently formed group of students from University of Padova. The team members come from different backgrounds, from Computer Science, Telecommunications and Biomedical Engineering to Mechanical Engineering and Economy, but they all share the same eagerness to get involved in present and future challenges.

+39 came together thanks to the “Space for your app” hackathon, an event organized by UniSmart in collaboration with the GSA, the European Space Agency and the University of Padova. The event gave the group the opportunity to come up with innovative solutions based on Galileo and Copernicus systems.

Most of the students currently are following their master studies and this allows them to employ and merge various skills and knowledge acquired during their academic path in order to create a very dynamic environment that teems with ideas and discussions.
