

*Emily Penn, Ocean Advocate,
Skipper and Co-Founder, eXXpedition*

Emily Penn is an ocean advocate, skipper and international public speaker and advisor on issues relating to our ocean, shifting mindsets and future society. She has spent the last decade exploring plastic pollution from the tropics to the Arctic. Since 2014, Emily has been on a mission to inspire and facilitate a community of changemakers through her project eXXpedition, and by training athletes and celebrities to be impactful advocates on ocean issues. She is developing upstream solutions to the ocean plastic issue with corporate partners, scientists and government bodies.

In 2018 Emily was awarded with the Points of Light award and with the Scientific Exploration Society Hotung Medal.
