

Fiammetta Diani,
Deputy Head of Market Development at the GSA.

Fiammetta Diani is currently Deputy Head of Market Development at the European GNSS Agency (GSA). Since 2009, she is in charge of market development and innovation activities in transportation. Before joining the GSA, she worked in the private sector for more than 10 years, both in aerospace and information technology industry. She holds a Master degree in Aerospace Engineering from Politecnico di Milano and a post-graduate Master in Economics and Business Administration of governmental and not-for-profit organisations from University of Ferrara in Italy.