

Paul Flament, Head of the Unit, European Commission

Paul Flament is an electrical and telecommunications engineer of Belgian nationality.

After a first stay in Germany for the company Siemens, he has been working 11 years for the European Space Agency in the Netherlands and in Italy in the field of telecommunication satellites.

He joined the European Commission in Brussels in 1998. He is Head of the Unit in charge of the Programme Management of the Global Navigation Satellite Systems "Galileo and EGNOS".

hosted by organised by

