

Tofig Nazarbayov, Geospinner, TensorScience

Tofig Nazarbayov is one of the members of the TensorScience team that won GSA's Galileo Geekie award with their Geospinner app at the Act in Space Hackathon in May 2018. Right now the team is fully concentrated on artificial neural network integration for the purpose of beneficial data analysis.

Tofig is currently studying at the French-Azerbaijani University (UFAZ University) to become a Geophysics Engineer. He has been active in different academic fields, ranging from quantum physics study projects to Information Communication Technology (ICT) and various trainings all around Europe.

hosted by

organised by

